The Observer

Heard at Dry Farming Congress:
"Are you a delegate?"
"Yes, and a dry farmer."
"Then let's irrigate," and the sluice gates at the St. George were opened.

Did it ever occur to you that Alberta was adapted to anything besides wheat growing? Did it ever occur to you that vegetables, if properly and largely cultivated, would add another great item to Alberta's great resources? Following facts will illustrate what intensive farming, even on a small scale, will do: C. D. Tuttle, four miles south-west of Vulcan, an ardent advocate of intensive farming, grew this year on less than one-eighth acre, approximately three tons of cabbage. In the aggregate the cabbage averaged from 8 to 10 pounds each, though the range in weight varied from 7 to 17 pounds each. He realized an average of price of 3 cents per pound. Thus one acre's yield would, at that rate, amount to $1,440.

A LAST REMINDER

Minister of Agriculture Urges Attendance

Edmonton, October 9, 1912
It is Alberta's privilege this year to entertain the visiting delegates from all nations to the seventh annual session of the International Dry Farming Congress and its auxiliary The Congress of Farm Women, which meets at Lethbridge from the 21st to 26th of this month. Every farmer and farmer's wife, who can possibly do so, should be present, not only to assist in welcoming and meeting delegates from outside the province, but also to benefit by attendance at the most important agricultural gathering held on the North American continent this year. The foremost workers in agriculture and domestic science, in the laboratory, on the farm, and in the home, will be present.

The application of the principles the Congress stands for will benefit every acre of land in the province. You are interested, therefore.

I have pleasure, then, in extending to everyone interested a hearty invitation to be present. Ample accommodation is being provided for to take care of all who may attend.

Delegates must purchase single fare tickets and obtain standard certificate which are to be signed by the Secretary of the Congress before being good for free return ticket. Where delegates travel over two lines of railway certificates must be obtained from each railway. Tickets are good going, October 16th to 22nd inclusive, and returning to October 31st.

It is a rare opportunity. Do not miss it.

Yours cordially,
DUNCAN MARSHALL,
Minister of Agriculture.

ENGINE DISC HARROW

Valuable Premium That Should Come to Vulcan District

Lethbridge, October 21.—One of the most valuable premiums to be contested for at the International Dry Farming Products Congress here next week, October 19-26, is the Emerson engine disc harrow, for the best individual farmer's exhibit of sheaf grain.

This prize is donated by the Emerson-Brantingham company, of Rockford, Ill., and will be delivered free to the winner from the nearest agency of Tudhope, Anderson & Co.

It is particularly appropriate that such an implement should be offered at a dry-farming exposition, as the disc harrow is one of the most effective tools in use by the farmers of the dry countries. Being an excellent sub-surface plow, it not only prepares a better seed bed, but conserves moisture, the bank account of the dry-farmer. The machine is a new one, and the only engine disc harrow made although the manufacturers of it have been making engine implements since the early days of the steam plow. In the past the power farmer has had to be content with pulling the common horse disc harrows behind his engine, but these are rather light for effective work behind a tractor. The total weight of the machine is 1,700 pounds so it will stand all the work given it.

There will be demonstrations of 3 of these harrows drawn by a Big 4 tractor at the Exposition here all next week.

A Happier To-Morrow

will be yours if to-night you will seek the beneficial aid of the famous and ideal family remedy Beecham's Pills. Nervous depression, or the "blues," is one of the symptoms of a condition quickly corrected by the reliable and quick-acting

BEECHAM'S PILLS

When the system is clogged—the bowels and liver and kidneys inactive—then the digestion is sure to be impaired and the nerves to lose their tone. Beecham's Pills induce the organs of digestion to work properly and thus this universal medicine has a tonic effect upon the whole system. Beecham's Pills do not vary—they act always in accordance with their great reputation; mildly and safely but quickly. In every way—in feeling, looks and vigor—a better condition Beecham's Pills

Train Names
Unlike several of the English companies, the American railways do not give names to the engines on their lines. Instead they give attractive titles to their most important trains. Thus they have their "Twilight Express," running from Boston to New York. Other names of trains from Boston to New York are: The Owl, and the Bay State Limited.
In the summer months there is a train running from New York into the hilly country of Massachusetts called the White Mountain Express. A train running through the coal regions of Pennsylvania is termed the Black Diamond Express.
In the United Kingdom we give descriptive titles to a few of our big trains such as the Flying Scotsman, the Kent Coast Express, the Cornish Riviera Express and the Southern Belle, the Great Western Company is famous for The Flying Dutchman, a well known West of England express, and the North-Western Railway still has the Wild Irishman. The Zulu is another of the Great Western Exes.

Trial Is Expensive.—To those who suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism, or any ailment arising from derangement of the digestive system, a trial of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended, should the sufferer be unacquainted with them. The trial will be inexpensive and the result will be another customer for this excellent medicine. So effective is their action that many cures can certainly be traced to their use where other pills have proved ineffective.

Good Posts in the Civil Service
With the view of supplying the Civil Service of the Straits Settlement and Federated Malay States, cadetships have been established, the holders of which are required to devote themselves for a certain time after their arrival in the East to learning a native language. The Cadets, who must be natural-born British subjects, are selected by open competitive examination held by the Civil Service Commissioners, to whom all inquiries on the subject should be addressed.
The examination for these appointments is, as a rule, held in the month of August in those years in which vacancies occur simultaneously with the examination for the Civil Service of India. Candidates must be between the ages of twenty-two and twenty-four on the first day of August in the year in which the examination is held.
The selected candidates are expected to leave England about a month after they have been finally selected for appointment.
Each candidate receives salary at the rate of $1250 per annum, half salary to commence from the day of leaving England, and full salary from the day of his arrival in the colony or State to which he may be sent. Cadets are provided with free furnished quarters. A free passage to the colony or State is provided for the cadet subject to an undertaking to refund the cost of his passage in the event of his relinquishing the appointment within three years for any other reason than mental or physical infirmity.
A cadet who passes examination in native language is paid at the rate of $1500 per annum, with free furnished quarters.

An Income From Mushrooms
In many countries the mushroom is a decidedly valuable product. We usually think of raising them in cellars or other dark places, and can hardly picture them as growing in any other spot; yet the Japanese method is as peculiar as it is interesting, for with one species, known as Chitake, experiments have been made of growing them in trees.
The trees used are oak from twenty-five to thirty years of age. They are cut down in the autumn, and at intervals of five, or six, inches are made with an axe all up and down the trunk. The trees are then hauled to little frequented parts of the forest and left there.
At the end of three years mushrooms appear in the incisions, and furnish a crop which lasts the year round, those of the autumn being the most valuable.
This method of raising mushrooms is probably the least troublesome in the entire world—What a vast difference between this way of doing the work and the method used in underground Paris and elsewhere, where the people who attend to the cultivation of the mushrooms live in a little world of their own and seldom see daylight from week's end to another.

A Great Opportunity
I want a boy about your age, said the butcher, and will give you $3 a week.
Shall I have a chance to rise? asked the boy.
Yes, replied the butcher. I want you to be here at 4 o'clock every morning.

Overheard on Second avenue yesterday. I must admit that my fiancée can't cook.
That's nothing, said the other fellow, what is her attitude about not knowing how to cook, does she brag about it, or does she talk like she would make an effort to learn?

A Mistake
Redd—I see an electric searchlight to be attached to the barrel of a gun will aid the hunter to see game at night is a German invention.

All Provided
Mr. Walter Joyce, "The Youth of the Strand," as George R. Sims once called him, attributed his perennial youthfulness to the fact that he once knew Henry J. Byron. He used to tell a good story of the ready wit of the irrepressible humorist.

In company with Byron, he was proceeding along the Strand, when another member of the party drew their attention to the unusually pathetic figure of a sandwichman, whose face seemed to betoken a knowledge of better day.

Deploable, isn't it? he said. Ninepence a day.
Yes, added Byron, quickly, and his board.

According to recent statistics, Germany is a nation of law-breakers. It appears that one person out of every twelve has been convicted for some transgression of the law. One girl out of every 213, one boy out of forty-three, one woman out of twenty-five, and one man out of six have come into conflict with the authorities over some detail or other of German law.

The Last Extremity
Mr. James Payn, speaking of individual interpretations of general rules, said in going round one night with the officer on guard at one of the English dockyards he heard an amusing illustration by an Irish sentry of this point.
If you see a convict escaping, said the officer, what is it your duty to do?
Sure, sir, and I'm not to fire till the last extremity.

Quite right. But what do you consider the last extremity to be?
Just round the corner of the dockyard there, sir, was the reply.

Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff.

Good Idea
He was a burly, old-fashioned skipper and had not yet become acquainted with all the latest improvements on steamers. When he went on the bridge of his new steam collier the engine room telegraph was the first thing that caught his eye.

What's that for? he demanded.
That goes down to the engine-room to tell him, you see all the orders on it—Full speed, Half, Slow, Stop. All you have to do is just to move the handle and the thing's done. If I put the handle to Full, will she go full speed? asked the captain. And if I turn it to stop, will it stop?
Certainly said the mate.

Ah, man, said the skipper, a slow glad smile lighting his face after a long silence, that's clever. It does away with all them imps of engineers.

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's Corn Cure.

The rector of a small village in Ireland recently met one of his parishioners who was a farmer and a great dog-fancier, and who was also fond of a glass of whisky. As they walked together awhile the rector, admiring some of the dogs he had with him said to the farmer:

Did you ever hear that by giving a pup whisky you kept him from growing?

Yes, replied the farmer, and I tried it.

With what results?
The pup died.
And now, my friend, said the rector, wasn't that a good lesson for you?
Bedad it was, sir, for I have never wasted a drop of good whisky on any of my dogs since.

A Poor Excuse
Warder (entering cell)—Your wife is here, asking to see you, seventy-seven.
Convict (in desperation)—Phew! Tell 'er I'm hout!

An eminent medical specialist was very much in the habit of using a note-book to assist memory and ensure precision. In course of time it happened that his aged father died. The worthy doctor attended the obsequies as chief mourner with due solemnity. At the close he was observed to draw out a note-book and to erase the words—
Mem—Bury father.

Miss Frances Barratt, the ten year old daughter of Mr. W. Barratt, of Northampton, has just achieved an extraordinary distinction at a French school. She was the only English girl at the National School at Mancy and beat all the French girls at their own language, winning the first prize for French composition, besides first for geography and arithmetic, and second for writing.

Fraulein Brunnhilde, the German giantess who is now on a visit to London, may be as is stated, the tallest girl in the world, but she is by no means the tallest who has been seen in the Metropolis. About thirty years ago a performance entitled "Babel and Bijo" drew enormous audiences to the old Alhambra. The chief attraction was the Amazon Queen, impersonated by a young German girl named Marlene, 8ft. 2in. in height, who made a great sensation as she strode on to the stage clad in a gorgeous metal-covered costume. After the play had run its course she went back to Germany, where she died at the age of seventeen.

Not Intended
Mary—I was pouring myself out a glass of wine in the drawing-room when the butler pounces on me and says: Hello! I will have none of that. And what did you say, Mary?
I said I did not intend to offer him any of it.

Did you hear about the defacement of Skinner's tombstone?
No. What was it?
Someone added the word "friends" to the epitaph.
What was the epitaph?
He did his best.

New Song of the Shirt
With fingers rigid and numb,
With eyelids heavy and red,
The fellow stands by his bureau drawer,
Scratching his swollen head.
Bing! Bang! Biff!
He goes at the drawer with a spurt,
And sings with a voice which is far from sweet.
The Song of the Buttonless Shirt.
One, two, three!
Out of the drawer they fly:
Four, five, six!
Not a button on one! his cry.
He puts one over his head
And clutches it under his chin,
And tries—with some words—to fasten it on.
With a meagely safety-pin.
Oh, mothers and sisters dear!
Oh, mothers-in-law and wives!
It is not the linen you're wearing out
But patience and human lives!
Please try and get busy, do:
Give up building that hat or skirt,
Just long enough to sew at least
A button upon one shirt.

Hist! whispered Paddy.
He was crouching beneath the sign of the three balls, watching, alert, and he had no ears for the pleasant-ries of his old friend Mick.
What's the matter, Patrick? whispered Mick, anxiously.
Paddy laid a finger on his lips.
Have you gone cranky? pursued Mick, unheeding. Tell me, Patrick, what is it?
It's like this, whispered Paddy. It's just twelve months today I pawned my suit, and I'm told in a twelve month it'll run out. Never a word, Mick. I'm standin' here waiting to be ready for it as it comes running through the doorway.

Jimmy, like all healthy boys, was fond of playing out of doors, and, like boys in general, he usually got himself scandalously dirty. He was about to sit down to dinner one day when his mother happened to notice the soiled condition of his hands, and sent him out to the kitchen to wash them.
You incorrigible boy! she exclaimed, as soon as she saw the basin of water in which he had performed the required ablutions. How in the world do you manage to get your hands so dirty?
That didn't all come from my hands! indignantly answered Jimmy. I washed my face in that water, too!

LOW RATE ON WHEAT

C.P.R. OFFICIAL MAINTAINS THE RATES ARE REASONABLE

Declare That Weather Conditions, Wages and Fuel Contribute to Necessity of Higher Rates in the West—Say Through Rate Cheapest in the World.

Ottawa.—The railway board delved into another mass of facts and figures submitted by the C.P.R. in connection with its defence of its western freight tariffs. The board did not close its case but towards the end of the sitting witnesses for the company gave place to Mr. D. B. Hanna, vice-president of the C.N.R. system, who was being examined by F. H. Philpotts, when the board rose. Mr. Hanna agreed with Vice-President Bosworth of the C.P.R., that water competition controls the rate situation in the east. He said that if it was not for this competition eastern rates would be increased. He declared that in many ways the cost of operation is higher in the west, not only on account of the weather conditions, the higher rate of wages and the greater cost of fuel.

W. B. Lanigan, freight traffic manager in the west, was the star witness for the C.P.R. He maintained that the western rates were reasonable and that the through rate on grain to Fort William is the lowest in the world. Mr. Lanigan was cross-examined at length by W. A. Macdonald, in regard to the possibility of an export wheat trade being developed via Vancouver. He said that while the C.P.R. was anxious to see this done, the present high rates for ocean carriage and insurance make it practically impossible. No reference was made to the conditions which will be created by the completion of the Panama Canal.

The general cross-examination of the C.P.R. witnesses by counsel for the federal and provincial governments and the Winnipeg Board of Trade has been deferred until they have an opportunity to study the rate comparisons submitted by the company.

Mr. McInnes agreed with Vice-President Bosworth that it was not fair to compare British Columbia division with Lake Superior division. Proper basis of rate making, he said, would be upon traffic that originates, or is consumed in each railway division.

Mr. McInnes agreed that ocean freight at Vancouver, Montreal and St. John would be credited to these points, but not freight such as grain carried over each division for furtherance eastward. He stated that the C.P.R. had claimed exemption from jurisdiction of the railway board, and for some reason none of the traffic in use eastward from Vancouver had been approved by the board in accordance with the provisions of the railway act. An order of the 23rd of August approved of standard tariffs east of Vancouver subject to the decision of the board in this inquiry.

Mr. McInnes admitted the ability of the C.P.R. to separate local from through freight and passenger earnings, and that through rates were charged on a mileage basis throughout the entire system. Both freight and passenger business had increased since the return filed of the Vancouver board of trade investigation. The board directed that a fresh return should be filed showing the business done on each division over the whole system.

A discussion of the grain situation obtained an admission from Mr. McInnes that at some seasons of the year wheat is taken to St. John from Winnipeg, a distance of 1500 miles, for 13 cents. This was a non-paying rate and a twenty cent rate earned a profit. Mr. McInnes stated that the export rate from Calgary to Vancouver, a distance of 640 miles, is 19½¢, while the local rate is 32 cents. Reference was made to the reduction of seventy per cent. ordered by the United States Interstate Commerce Commission on freight eastward from coast cities and a comparison of the rates created by this reduction with those in effect from British Columbia coast cities was gone into.

ARRANGED HIS OWN FUNERAL

Address of Clergyman at Grave Limited to Five Minutes

Berlin.—Very explicit directions for securing simplicity at his funeral were left by Doctor Kirchner, the late Oberbürgermeister (lord mayor) of Berlin, who died yesterday. His body is to be placed in a simple pine coffin and buried from the cemetery chapel without any kind of ceremonial at the town hall. Corporations, government departments and private associations are requested to abstain from sending either deputations or flowers. Public memorials in newspaper, a common custom in Germany, are forbidden, as well as funeral or memorial services of any kind, and at the burial the minister is to read only the 90th Psalm (Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations) and to address a few words of consolation to the family, not exceeding in any circumstances five minutes in length.

Importing Irish Cattle.—A deputation of English agriculturists saw Mr. Runciman, president of the Board of Agriculture to-day, when the Duke of Devonshire implored him to stop the importation of Irish cattle.

Mr. Runciman in reply said his position for some months had been extremely difficult.

No cattle could be imported except from areas in Ireland free from disease.

Trade Commissioner

Ottawa.—C. H. Hamilton Wickes, British trade commissioner to Canada, who succeeds Mr. Richard Gregg, lately appointed chief Canadian trade commissioner will be here soon to confer with the government before taking up his new duties. Mr. Wickes has had a very successful career in India, South Africa and England, and achieved marked success as British trade commissioner in Australia.

London.—Dorking district council has offered to let caves at South Street, Dorking, at an annual rental of $75.

SMALL SEAL HARVEST

Strict Regulations Will Preserve Herd From Extinction

Washington.—The fur sealing season in the Behring Sea has closed with the smallest killing of seals in many years, and a total absence of pelagic sealing, according to reports to the department of commerce and labor. The result has been, it is declared, a considerable increase in the number of seals which were threatened with extinction by the wanton slaughter of pelagic sealers.

The total number killed off the Pribilof Islands during the season was 3,764, considerably less than the average in the past. These were killed by agents of the American government, and the skins will be sold in London, the proceeds to be distributed among the United States, Great Britain, Russia, and Japan, in accordance with the treaty signed by these governments for the preservation of the seals.

EMBARGO ON CANADIAN CATTLE

Irish Influence Is Strongly Exerted Against It Being Removed

London.—It is understood that there is little likelihood of the British ports being opened to admit Canadian cattle in the near future and the refusal of Rt. Hon. W. Runciman, president of the board of agriculture to receive a deputation on the subject has caused considerable indignation among those who have been agitating for the removal of the embargo for months past. That this attitude of the government is due to the Irish influence is common knowledge, although up to recently Irish store cattle were excluded from England and Scotland. It is stated that Ireland will continue to supply them with young cattle for some time to come.

Capturing Poachers

Ottawa.—More American boats have been captured while poaching inside the three mile limit on the Pacific coast than have been taken within many years. Up to the present four American fishing boats have been caught by the Rainbow and other government steamers. Three of them were condemned by the courts and sold, while the other case is hanging fire. The naval service department reports that the Americans are the greatest offenders, the Japanese seldom infringing. Only one American boat was taken last year and it is considered the result of the activity of the government fleet will frighten fishermen in the future. Two extra steamers are being built in Great Britain for the fisheries protection service and will be completed for next year.

For Imperial Defence

London.—The Hon. T. Mackenzie, of New Zealand, who has arrived in London, declares himself entirely in favor of direct contributions to the Imperial Navy. I am not, he said, a believer in local navies scattered all over the Empire under separate control and direction, even in time of peace, much as in time of war.

I am a profound believer in one Empire, one Navy, and I am glad to say that the New Zealanders as a whole are as deeply committed to that principle as I am.

Bad Time for Boxers

London.—When a professional boxer named Brooks was fined for obstructing at the city summons court lately he asked for time in which to pay as trade was bad.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 2.—A writer on grain matters recently stated that "A review of the wheat situation at the present time is little more than a talk on the weather." The readers of our weekly letter will recognize the truth of this remark, for during the last five or six weeks the weather in western Canada, the northern United States, and western Europe has been not the chief factor in prices—but the leading matter of interest and observation on the part of the grain trade generally in view of its probable influence on markets later on, especially if no decided improvement took place before much real damage was done. In this country there has been a week and rainy season lasting from 24 to 30 hours every week for the last five weeks, with periods of good drying weather in between. Fortunately, the weather has not been so unfavorable in Alberta and western Saskatchewan as it has been eastward and for nearly two weeks now the further west has had fair weather. In Eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba, however, the week end wetting down came again last Thursday and Friday. It was very wet in southern Manitoba, North Dakota and northern Minnesota, and the rain over a large area turned to snow, which mostly melted as it came down, but in some districts the snow lay 2 to 4 inches deep over everything out of doors. This has put threshing in Manitoba another week behind, and it is also resulting in a large increase in "No grade" cars because many farmers evidently out of patience with the delay, are threshing at least part of their grain before it is quite dry, and so no matter how high the quality of the grain may be, it is "tough" and inspectors "No grade" it Northern, 2 or 3 Northern as the case may be. The last four or five days over the country have again been very favorable, bright, windy and warm, and this time—although yesterday and today the barometer is low—the weather seems cleared in character, the atmosphere is clear and harder instead of being filled with moisture. It is, of course, the hope of everyone that the weather may now settle down for a period of dry seasonable October weather, such as we have frequently had in this country at this season, and if so the grain will pour eastward to the utmost limit of the capacity of the railroads to carry it. There has not been much damage in the market situation during the week under review. In the foreground of it up till

Monday the tendency of prices was gradually but slowly downward. Yesterday, however, the development of the political situation in the Balkans leaped out in reports of mobilization of troops and the short sellers in all the speculative markets—at least the nervous shorts—started to cover their short sales, and no doubt many operators who were not short thought it well to buy some wheat, and moderate advances took place in all markets. This was repeated today, though to a smaller extent, and it leaves the change in prices on the week in some places ½¢ lower and in others ½¢ higher than a week ago, generally the decline is on the near deliveries and the advance on the distant deliveries. The weight of the American and Canadian spring wheat crops is not being felt yet, but if the weather keeps favorable receipts will become so large that it will need a strong and advanced international situation to prevent values on this side going a little lower. We do not think there is much in a European war nowadays to stir up advance wheat prices in the outside countries having wheat to sell, because wheat in neutral vessels would either not be contraband or the high freight and insurance rates and general risk would be such that they would eat up any probable advance in value on the other side; still it is popular to consider that war will raise the price of grain. The statistical situation the past week is not so bearish as it seemed likely it would be. In the United States the movement of winter wheat has kept up well, but the movement of the spring wheat has not increased as was generally expected. The exports from the United States and Canada—mostly from the former, of course—last week were heavy, 5,840,000 bush, being the largest quantity for one week since the second week in November, 1908. The world's shipments were large at 13,968,000 bush, against 10,176,000 bush for same week last year. But the quantity on ocean passage decreased 1,088,000 bush, on the week, although the aggregate quantity on passage is liberal at 38,816,000 bush, against 31,266,000 bush, a year ago. The United States visible supply increased 1,526,000 bush, against an increase of 1,569,000 bush, a year ago, and is now 31,658,000 bush, against 32,709,000 bush, a year ago. The increase in the U.S. visible would no doubt have been larger but for the fact that several cargoes of wheat have unexpectedly been taken away by vessels chartered to load at Port William. The expected supplies of wheat—not having arrived at Port William on account of the delayed harvest in our country, shippers who had vessels engaged to load at Port William in September arranged to divert them to Duluth where there was plenty of wheat, and they bought cargoes for them there. These cargoes were shipped to Canadian ports on the other side of the Lakes, and the grain disappeared from the U.S. visible supply. The European visible supply also decreased last week 1,840,000 bush, against an increase of 900,000 bush, a year ago, and it now stands at 72,968,000 bush, against 83,100,000 bush, a year ago. Notwithstanding these comparatively bullish changes in visible supplies, and the strength given to the markets by the war rumors, we do not see any certain prospect of permanent improvement in prices at the present time. The fact is the northern hemisphere has had a good crop year. Russia, the United States and Canada have large wheat crops, and western European crops are not short although deteriorated by wet weather, and Spain and Italy are the only European countries whose crops are on the short side and that not seriously. Besides the bountiful wheat crops, there is this year abundance of other grains, root crops and hay. The United States has raised record crops of corn and oats, and Russia and Germany have about 200,000,000 bush more rye this year than last. The Argentine and Australian crops are progressing favorably and conditions in India for seedling the new crop are good, and seedling is progressing now, and India keeps exporting at last year's level. Markets have had a large decline, however, and we think present prices should not decline much more, but neither do we think that the situation warrants any important advance in prices until some bullish development takes place and there is really nothing of that kind in sight at present.

Our Winnipeg market is fairly active and would be much more so if movement of new crop was more liberal. Receipts are now increasing, being at the rate of around 500 cars daily, and with a continuance of good weather they may soon reach 1000 cars per day. The present receipts show a disappointingly large proportion of tough and damp cars, although the wheat in its condition is mostly 1 and 2 Northern and is perfectly good wheat for the miller, and when run through a drier will keep as long as wanted. Buyers offer for tough wheat 6¢ per bush, under the price of straight grade. To-day's cash prices are: 1 Nor., 89¢; 2 Nor., 87½¢; 3 Nor., 86½¢; No. 4 wheat, 81¢; Alberta Red Winter No. 1, 89¢; A.R. No. 2, 87½¢; A.R. No. 3, 86¢. Futures closed Oct., 88½¢; Nov., 87¢; Dec., 85½¢; May, 90½¢.

Oats.—A strong market continues for oats owing to scarcity caused by the delay in threshing. This must change radically as soon as new oats move freely as our prices are quite out of line with other markets. To-day's cash prices are: No. 2 C.W., 42¢; 3 C.W., 39¢; 1 Fd., 41¢; 1 Fd., 39¢; 2 Fd., 37¢. Futures closed Oct., 37½¢; Nov., 35½¢; Dec., 33½¢.

Barley.—Receipts of new barley are liberal and the demand is good. Prices are: No. 3, 51¢; No. 4, 46¢; Rejected, 43¢; Feed, 42¢.

Flax.—There is not much doing in flax, buyers for commercial purposes hold off in expectation of lower prices when receipts get large. To-day's cash price for No. 1 N.W. Canada is 155¢; and no other grade is quoted. Futures closed Oct., 153¢; Nov., 149¢.

All prices mentioned above are on basis of delivery in store Port William, Port Arthur and Duluth.

FIRST SHOT IS FIRED

TURKS HAVE TO EVACUATE THEIR STRONGHOLD

Ottoman Guns are Silenced Within Half an Hour After Prince Peter Directed the First Shot at Enemy's Position—Proclamation is Issued.

Podgoritza, Montenegro.—The Montenegrin army opened the war against Turkey on Oct. 9, by attacking a strong Turkish position opposite Podgoritza. Prince Peter, the youngest son of King Nicholas, fired the first shot.

This was the signal for firing all along the line, and an artillery duel ensued. Within 21 minutes five Turkish guns were silenced, and the Turks retreated from the first position on Mount Planhitza. By noon the Turks had evacuated the mountain.

Podgoritza is the headquarters of the Montenegrin forces and amid the enthusiastic cheering of the people, King Nicholas, with Prince Mirko, his second son, and staff, rode early to the mountain to survey the positions. The Montenegrin guns had been placed the night before, and strong detachments were held in reserve should the Turkish forces prove larger than the reports of the scouts indicated.

Punctually at eight o'clock the first shot was directed at the Turkish position on the hills opposite by Prince Peter, who is a captain of artillery. At the booming of the gun, the band in the Montenegrin headquarters struck up the royal hymn.

That the Montenegrin fire was effective was proved by the quick retirement of the Turks. After they evacuated the mountain, a general advance of the Montenegrin infantry was ordered. Covered by a concentrated artillery fire, the infantry moved towards the strongly fortified Turkish positions in Detelitch Mountain, which commands the road to Scutari.

At two o'clock the Turks landed troops on the shore of Lake Scutari, near the Montenegrin frontier. A general engagement followed and continued all day over an extensive front.

King Nicholas has issued a proclamation summoning all Montenegrins to go immediately to the assistance of their brethren in Old Serbia, where he declares, women and children are being massacred.

Montenegro had hoped to secure the liberation of the Serbs in Turkey without the shedding of blood, but peaceful endeavors proved unavailing, continues the proclamation, and no other recourse was left but to take up the sword in their behalf.

We are seized in this holy undertaking under sympathy with the whole civilized world, and we will have the local assistance of the Kings of Serbia, Bulgaria and Greece, and their peoples, who in this effort have renounced themselves with the Montenegrins like brothers.

The proclamation continues: "Montenegro is attacking Turkey not from motives of arrogance, but inspired by a noble resolve to prevent final extermination of her brethren."

DEVELOPMENT OF DAIRYING

Moosomin Man Appointed to Assist Dairy Commissioner

The development of the dairy industry during the past few years has been such that the Honorable, the Minister of Agriculture, has authorized the appointment of a General Representative of the dairy branch in the outside service.

The services of Mr. W. A. McCorkell, of Moosomin have been secured to assume these new duties and in future he will assist W. A. Wilson, Dairy Commissioner, in organizing Farmers' Co-operative Creamery Companies, appointing local representatives throughout the province, and to make known generally what the government is doing to assist the dairy industry. A complete organization along commercial lines will be effected throughout the province, and through local agents thus appointed the dairy branch will be able to distribute literature that will be helpful to all dairymen.

In securing Mr. McCorkell to undertake this work the Minister of Agriculture and the Dairy Commissioner are to be congratulated. He has always been a strong supporter of diversified farming and particularly dairying. With his experience of 20 years in the West, which has embraced every practical phase of dairymen and several years on the staff of institute speakers with the extension work of the Department of Agriculture, together with being a man of integrity and good business ability, he is well qualified for the work which will enable him to do good work among the farmers.

Forest Reserves for the West

Ottawa.—The forestry department this year has a large number of men in the west, partly in northern portions of the three prairie provinces, making thorough investigations into timber possibilities, and from reports which are coming to hand there will be reasons for the setting aside of a large number of new forest reserves.

The largest reserve which it is proposed to form is on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake and consists of 4783 square miles. Next to the Rocky mountain reserve it will be the largest in Canada. The report on this reserve has already reached the department.

Another forest reserve, which is being recommended in northern Alberta is in the country north of Lac La Biche.

A reserve is likely in southern Manitoba, and the Saskatchewan reserve which has already been recommended, is at Fort La Corne. The proposed reserve is of 512 square mile area.

Next year the department will have an examination of the Big River country made. Large extensions will likely be made this year to the Pine forest reserve, lying southeast of Prince Albert. It will likely take in the sandy ridge extending north of the Saskatchewan river to a point east of Prince Albert.

The Porcupine reserve, in north-western Manitoba, will also probably be extended west to take in a large portion of Saskatchewan.

TRADE CONDITIONS GOOD

Business Brisk in all Departments, and Railways Show 12 Per Cent. Increase

New York.—Dispatches to Dunn's Review from branch offices of R. J. Dunn & Co., in leading cities of the Dominion of Canada, state that the distribution of fall and winter merchandise is making satisfactory progress.

Wholesale trade is maintained at Montreal, cooler weather stimulating the demand for heavy dry goods and clothing. Boot and shoe manufacturers are very busy, leather is extremely firm, and hides are again advanced. Groceries are in fair demand, with most canned goods scarce and high. The iron market is active, buyers operating extensively in anticipation of higher prices. There is a good retail trade in seasonable lines at Quebec, and wholesale business is up to the average for this season.

Toronto reports a good wholesale movement of general merchandise, especially in heavy dry goods, clothing and footwear. Groceries are in liberal request. Hardware and building supplies are moving freely, and the strength in hides and leather is fully maintained. Active retail trade is reported by Hamilton, demand being stimulated by the appearance of cooler weather, while wholesale distributions keeps up well, and prospects are very promising. With satisfactory crops now assured, fall business in the far west and northwest is showing marked activity, with all classes of merchandise in heavy demand.

Winnipeg reports that retail trade in some lines is affected by warm weather, but that wholesale departments are busy, the movement of merchandise being stimulated by the excellent harvesting results. General trade conditions continue favorable at Saskatoon, and collections are improving. Heavy frosts in the vicinity of Edmonton have done no damage, as the grain is in stock. The situation in mercantile lines continues very satisfactory, the volume of business at Calgary showing a large increase, and trade is brisk in groceries, provisions, dry goods, boots and shoes and hardware.

Gross earnings of all Canadian railroads reporting for three weeks in September show an increase of 12.7 per cent. as compared with the earnings of the same roads last year.

Commercial failures in the Dominion of Canada this week numbered 27, against 24 last week, and 20 the same week last year.

Diamonds Expected From North

Quebec

Cobalt, Ont.—It is expected that Walter Taberner, a well known Northern Ontario prospector, will shortly reach here with the first lot of diamonds from the reported diamond fields bordering on Hudson Bay. He was in the Nottoway River district last winter and went in again early last spring with a gang of men. They remained in the country all summer and must have struck it rich from the length of time spent there. Taberner first received his information regarding diamonds in Northern Quebec from a Chicago man, who claimed to have been in the country eighteen years ago and to have brought out $100,000 worth of diamonds. He provided maps and directions, which Taberner or his first find found to be accurate. He succeeded in locating the old camps and workings. It is stated the gems are the blue clay workings geologists have stated as the proper formation for diamonds. Other prospectors have visited the north, but have failed to bring back anything better than good looking diamond matrix.

Bank Loans for Farmers

Winnipeg.—The movement for a Government agricultural bank in Manitoba is now fairly launched, according to the Dominion Magazine, which in its current issue goes on to define more precisely the exact scope of this proposal. The movement contemplates primarily, says the Dominion, the establishment of borrowing facilities for the cattleman and the grain grower on the same favorable terms as are now open to the lumber man, the grain man, and the real estate operator. There is no fundamental reason, it is argued, why capital should not be as readily available for the development of a nation's agricultural resources as for the development of its railway and banking interests. The movement must extend to meet with opposition, but the Western farmer is seeking relief from an intolerable condition, it is shown.

Will Give Doctors More Pay

London.—The cabinet has considered increased remuneration for the doctors under the Insurance Act. It is understood that it agreed to increase the amount allocated to them by $5,000,000 annually, making possible the payment of 7s. 6d. (£1.50) per insured person a year and thus meeting the doctors more than half way. The doctors declared the least they would accept was $2.04 and the government offered $1.44 after first offering $1.00.

$750,000 for Naval Defence

Capetown.—A scheme of naval and military defence for Natal has been agreed upon between officials of the South African Union and the Imperial government, including the admiralty. The new works will be begun at once. They involve the removal of a lighthouse and other work, making up an expenditure in all probability of $750,000.

Wilbur Wright

Dayton, O.—Wilbur Wright, the deceased aviator, according to an accounting, filed in the Probate Court left an estate valued at $279,298. He left $50,000 to his brother, Lorin Wright, and $50,000 to his sister Katharine. He gave $1,000 to his father, Bishop Wright, and $126,875 to his mother, O. Wile.

Paris.—Women of Lyons have decided to disregard the injunction issued by the prefect of the Rhone against the wearing of unprotected aprons.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON III.—FOURTH QUARTER FOR OCTOBER 20, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Mark vi, 24-30; Matt. viii, 5-13—Memory Verses 27, 28—Golden Text, John vi, 37—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The two incidents of these lessons, though far separated as to the time of their occurrence, are both illustrations of great faith on the part of two people who were not of Israel—foreshadowings shall go from Israel and her righteous king to all other nations as set forth in Psa. 137, and many other places in such wonderful words as these, "God be merciful unto us and bless us, that Thy way may be known upon earth. Thy saving health among all nations," and meantime contrasting the "little faith" or "no faith" of those of lesser privilege.

The story of the woman of Tyre and Sidon follows in the regular order of events, while that of the Roman centurion takes us back to a time just after the choosing of the twelve apostles. Both events are recorded by Matthew; the centurion also in Luke vii and the gentle woman in Mark in the lesson of today. The great words in each lesson are, to my mind, "O woman, great is thy faith, be it unto thee even as thou wilt," and, "Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. Go thy way, and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee." (Matt. ix, 28; Luke 10-13).

Taking the story of the centurion first, we note that his servant, who was dear unto him, was sick unto death, and the messengers who came to Jesus on his behalf spoke of the centurion's love for the nation and how he had built them a synagogue; but the centurion himself, said, either personally or by his messengers, that he was not worthy to have the Lord Jesus come under his roof, but that if he would only speak the word His servant would be healed. When the messengers returned to the centurion's house they found the servant whole, that he had been sick. He had been healed in the same hour that Jesus had said, "As thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee."

As Jesus commended the centurion's faith He said to the people that many would come from all parts and share the kingdom with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, while many who supposed they were sure of it would find themselves cast into outer darkness. How essential it is that we become in God's way His children and know that our names are written in heaven (Luke x, 20; Rev. xxi, 3; xii, 8), for many who profess to be His will have to hear Him say, "I never knew you, depart from Me" (Matt. vii, 21-23).

Mark the poverty of spirit or consciousness of the importance of his position, but evidently from his heart, Lord, I am not worthy. Something of the spirit of him of Luke xviii, 13-14 who went to his house justified. There is only one who is truly worthy, and when we take our right place before Him He is ready to honor all the faith we place in Him. As to the other incident I have often thought that Jesus went away off there to be refreshed by that woman's great faith, for knowing all things, He knew all about her and her trouble and the way she would come to Him and cling to Him and take no denial. Nothing pleases Him like faith, and without faith it is impossible to please Him. It is written that the centurion's servant was very dear unto him, but here it is a mother pleading for her own daughter who must have been dear to her, and specially dear because of her affliction, for the sick one in a home generally has the sympathy of all. As we think of those who are dear to us do we consider the words of our Father in heaven concerning His only begotten Son. This is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased? (John iii, 16; Matt. iii, 17; xvii, 5). Let us also lay to heart that we do not honor the Father unless we honor the Son; and that since God spared not His own Son, He will with Him also freely give us all things (John v, 28; Rom. viii, 32).

Probably this distressed mother did not know these great truths, but she knew that she had a greatly afflicted daughter, who had heard of this wonderful teacher who could heal all diseases and cast out demons and had no doubt longed to reach Him, but He was too far away, and so her case seemed hopeless. But now He had come near to her, the blessing was within her reach, and as soon as possible she is at His feet beseeching Him for her daughter. To get the complete record we must put the accounts in Matthew and Mark side by side. To her first appeal Jesus answered her not a word.

The disciples brought Him to and her away. He then said that He was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. She first cried unto Him as the Son of David, now she says, "Lord, help me." To this He replied: It is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it unto the dogs. Then came her conquering appeal: Yea, Lord, let the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs. Willing to own herself a gentle dog pleading for a crumb, she gets all she came for. For this saying go thy way; the devil is gone out of thy daughter. In each of these cases note the extreme weakness and lowliness of the applicants.

Tariff Expert for Railway Commission.—Ottawa.—The steadily increasing work of the railway commission demands the increase of the present staff of traffic experts and it is understood that the services of Mr. James E. Walsh, the present manager of the transportation department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association have been in request on behalf of the commission.

The government service recently claimed Mr. R. W. Breadnor, the tariff expert of the Manufacturers' Association, and Mr. Walsh may also shortly join the civil service under the railway commission.

A Double Deception.

Women Are Not the Only Adept at the Game.

By CORA D. ROGERS.

Young Albert Caldwell while studying medicine in Paris received a letter from his mother containing the following information and instructions:

Caldwell's father had been engaged in a real estate speculation with one John Armstrong. Together they bought a tract of land, which they intended to lay out as a suburban residence park. They had got very much tangled up in their affairs when Armstrong died. This threw his estate into the chancery courts, making a worse tangle than before, for he left his property to his daughter in trust till she should be twenty-one years of age.

The next complication was the death of Caldwell, leaving the income accruing from certain securities he possessed to his wife and his real estate to his son, Albert. The suburban property could not be developed till Miss Anita Armstrong became of age.

CAUGHT HER IN HIS ARMS.

and preparations were being made to start another park near by, which would render the first useless.

Mrs. Caldwell wrote her son that matters might be facilitated by a union of the two estates. The lawyers had agreed that this could be done by a marriage between Albert Caldwell and Anita Armstrong. An agreement had been made on the part of the widows that Mrs. Caldwell should suggest such a marriage to her son, then in Paris, and Mrs. Armstrong should suggest it to her daughter, who was traveling with a party of Americans in Italy. Miss Armstrong had been advised of the matter and had agreed to meet young Armstrong in Switzerland during the hot season at a hotel on Lake Thun. Mrs. Armstrong closed her letter to her son with a recommendation that he join the young lady there that they might become acquainted and with a view to marriage.

Miss Armstrong, with a chaplain and a friend, Miss Ethel Turnlee, arrived at the Hotel G., located on Lake Thun, where she received a letter from Caldwell saying that he would be with her in three days. At the expiration of the time a young man arrived at the hotel who registered his name as Devereaux Boyle. Mr. Boyle, after getting settled, sent his card to Miss Armstrong with a note of introduction from Caldwell stating that he would be detained for a day or two longer in Paris, and since Boyle was starting for Switzerland he had asked him to make his excuses for him and would be pleased to have her be companionable with his friend during the interval.

Miss Armstrong was very much pleased with Mr. Boyle. The two, in company with others, climbed the mountains, rode in the charming little steamers that danced back and forth on the lake and dined during the evenings in the parlors of the hotel. Mr. Boyle had a very winning way with him that was especially enhanced by his smile and a pair of frank, honest blue eyes. He had not been in Miss Armstrong's company long when she wished that he were the man she was to meet with a view to marriage.

Miss Turnlee noticed the attraction the couple had for each other and, knowing that her friend's interests lay in another direction, saw that the plan was liable to be spoiled. Indeed, she wondered that Caldwell had given so attractive a man an introduction to a girl he was to meet with a view to marrying himself.

One morning Boyle received a telegram and told Miss Armstrong that it was an announcement from his friend Caldwell that he would be with them that evening. Miss Armstrong, after a talk with Miss Turnlee, told Mr. Boyle that since they had not met Mr. Caldwell he would be a good joke to introduce Miss Turnlee to him as Miss Armstrong. Boyle fell in with the plan, though he said he feared Caldwell would never forgive him when he discovered that Boyle had been a party to the deception. Since the girls had become known to their proper identity where they were, it was decided that the party remove to Interlaken at the other end of the lake. So, packing their trunks, they took a boat for the latter place, leaving word for Caldwell of their new location.

When Caldwell arrived at Interlaken and sent his card to Miss Armstrong, Ethel Turnlee went down to meet him. She played her part very well, though it was not a difficult one. Caldwell said nothing about the object of their meeting; he spoke only of taking an outing after a year's hard work at study in Paris and deemed himself fortunate in having a companion. The lady informed him that his friend Mr. Boyle had proved very companionable and that she had with her a friend (Miss Turnlee), so that now they would make a party of four. Caldwell said that he had had letters from his friend, who wrote glowing accounts of the delightful time he was having, and he had spoken very enthusiastically of her. At this the substitute tried hard to blush, but only succeeded in casting down her eyes.

Nevertheless, from the arrival of Caldwell the pairing of the real Miss Armstrong with Mr. Boyle remained the same as it had before his arrival. Caldwell seemed to get on with the spurious Miss Armstrong—Miss Turnlee—famously. Nothing was said about the object of the meeting, but in due time the mother of Caldwell received a letter stating that he was enraptured with the marriage plan and had great hopes of winning not only the lady's hand but her heart.

Mrs. Caldwell took the letter to Mrs. Armstrong, who read it without comment, but with a frown. Then she told Mrs. Caldwell she feared Albert was oversteering, for her daughter had written her that a friend of Albert's, Mr. Boyle, was of their party, and it was evident from her enthusiasm concerning him that he was a dangerous rival. While Devereaux Boyle was referred to as being delightfully nice, Albert Caldwell was scarcely referred to at all.

Meanwhile matters were going on swimmingly at Interlaken. But one day the real Miss Armstrong met at the Kursaal a lady who knew her. Fortunately the meeting occurred without any of the former's party overhearing her called by her correct name, but she proposed immediately that they move on to Lucerne. The proposition was adopted and the party brought up at one of the hotels in that city.

The only one of the party who was not fairly bubbling over with delight was the chaplain, who found himself constantly left out of the company. For Mr. Boyle and the real Miss Armstrong were always paired, and Mr. Caldwell was equally devoted to the real Miss Turnlee. Did they all go together for an excursion on the lake the boat had hardly started before this pairing commenced. Did they mount the Rigi, as soon as they reached the top the two couples ran away from each other and the chaplain.

But underneath all this pleasure there was a canker worm gnawing at Miss Armstrong's heart. She feared that if she did not take the advice of her lawyers she might be beggared. And yet she was hopelessly in love with her cavalier. She told him that her interest lay in another direction. He looked grave, sighed, but said nothing. Then at last she made up her mind to confess the deception. But when she told the man who was as deeply interested in her as she was in him of her relations with Caldwell he said that since he was a party to the deception, perhaps he should make the confession for both. He nobly offered to surrender her to Caldwell if she desired to follow her interest rather than her heart.

Here was the critical point, and she desired time for consideration. Caldwell seemed much interested in his friend, and that complicated matters. When she came to a decision it was that Caldwell had spoiled the original plan by introducing Boyle. The man to whom she made this confession caught her in his arms and, after wild caresses, said to her: "I am Bert Caldwell, I myself bore the letter introducing Boyle. I have played the part of Boyle, and he has played the part of Caldwell." "You are Bert Caldwell?" "I am." "And you two men have been deceiving us?" "I simply wished to eliminate, at least so far as you were concerned, any interest in me. I preferred to win you as another person, one with whom you were not tied as in a matter of property."

"Nevertheless you have deceived me." "Without criminal intent." "I made up my mind to marry Mr. Boyle, and, since you are not Mr. Boyle, I can't marry you."

"You can't marry Boyle. He has fallen heels over head in love with your friend."

"It isn't necessary that I should marry any one."

"Oh, yes, it is. It is necessary that you marry me. If you don't we shall both be beggared."

"I don't believe Anita will marry him either," she said, still pouting. "He has deceived her by passing himself as you, just the same as you have deceived me by passing yourself as him."

"Will you be as kind to me as your friend is to my friend?"

"Certainly. I am safe in promising that."

"Then we are engaged!"

"How do you make that out?"

"He has proposed and been accepted."

"This is the only case on record where two men got ahead of two girls in a matter of duplicity."

HOW THE EARTH DRIED.

And Why the Drying Up Process is Constantly Going On.

When water is decomposed by radium or by ultra violet rays it produces hydrogen and peroxide of hydrogen, and it does not form oxygen. Electrolytic decomposition forms oxygen.

A German investigator bases a new theory relating to the drying of the earth on the fact that one form of decomposition produces oxygen, while the other form does not. Part of the water vapor emitted by the seas is decomposed by the ultra violet rays of the sun. The hydrogen formed rises toward the high atmospheric strata, and all the water does not return to the surface. Therefore the quantity of water on the face of the globe is always diminishing, and the earth is incessantly, if gradually, drying.

To cite one example: On the north side of the Alps occur a continual falling off in the depth of the lakes and a gradual formation of swamps. Two hundred and fifty years ago there were 149 lakes in the canton of Zurich. Today there are seventy-six. The destruction of the forests and the cultivation of the land partially explain this, but the loss of hydrogen is an important factor. The hydrogen accumulated in the higher atmosphere is diffused in interstellar space.—Harper's Weekly.

REPORTED THE WEDDING.

The Dramatic Critic Got the Job and Did the Best He Could.

In the absence of the regular society reporter the dramatic critic of the Daily Dotings was detailed to cover a wedding. "I'll do the best I can," he said, "but I feel sure I shall make a mess of it."

This is what he turned in, omitting the preliminary remarks about the size of the house and the delay in beginning the performance:

"Mr. Barker, in the role of the bridegroom, acted the part in a stiff yet listless manner. He has a good stage presence, but mars the effect by a total lack of animation and an almost inaudible voice. Miss Perkins, as the bride, was much more effective. Her costume was bewildering, yet true to life. If one may venture to criticize, her effort to overcome her obvious stage fright was a trifle too evident. She was in good voice, however, and her enunciation was clear and distinct. "It must be pointed out that both Miss Perkins and Mr. Barker were deficient in their lines and had to be prompted almost constantly by the Rev. Henry Harper, who, as the officiating clergyman, was decidedly the star of the performance."—New York Press.

Homelessness Spoils Photographs. Aunt Maria thought, and so did her New York relatives, that the photographer was unreasonably discourteous. For three successive days he refused to take Aunt Maria's photograph. On the fourth day he told why.

"In justice to her," he said, "I do not want to take her picture now. She is too homesick. Most out of town people want to be photographed while in New York. If they are longing for home I put them off with one excuse or another until the homesickness wears off."

"If you want your aunt's pictures to turn out well just hunt up some one from her home town who happens to be visiting in New York at present and bring him here so she will meet him unexpectedly. The meeting will put sparkle and animation into her face, and neither she nor I will be disappointed with the photographs."—New York Times.

A Hard Road to Travel.

To add to Bunkerton's discomfort in losing his way, he had now been brought to a standstill by the absolute impassability of the highway, and his temper, already sorely tried, finally gave way.

"What kind of people are you up here in this rotten old state?" he cried, addressing an old countryman who stood close by inspecting his stranded car with curious eyes.

"I dunno," said the old man. "Baout the same as most folks, I cal'late."

"Do you call this car on the face of nature a road?" roared Bunkerton.

"Not as I knows on," returned the old man. "This here hain't the pike; it's Mose Whibley's trout stream run dry. I wondered what ye was drivin' up it fer."—Harper's Weekly.

HE PUSHED THE DEPOT.

But the Negro Porter Forgave Him When He Learned His Mission.

THERE was a shriveled up, white-headed old colored man leaning up against the passenger depot at Birmingham, Ala., when the negro porter thought it would be a good opportunity to show off his authority. He therefore advanced with a lordly air and demanded:

"See yere, ole man, does you know you am liable to be sent to jail fur dat?"

"Sho! What I don't?"

"You am dun pushin' on our depot, sah. I'd like to know what you am liggerin' round yere fur?"

"I's just dun waitin'."

"Waitin' fur what?"

"Fur my darter, who's gone up to de stob to trade."

"But you ain't leave to wait round yere? You'd better skule right up de street and be powerful glad dat I hain't sent you to jail fur pushin' agin my depot."

"But my darter she dun git fo' hundred dollars, you see, and she cum to town to—"

"What! Your darter dun git fo' hundred dollars? Ole man, don't you try to foolish dis railroad!"

"Yes, sah, fo' hundred dollars, and she's a widder and owns fo'ty acres of land and two mews."

"What! Your darter got all dat?"

"Yes, sah, and mo' too."

"And she's a widder?"

"Yes, sah. Her man dun died last year. She first got six hundred dollars, and now she got fo' hundred dollars, mo'."

"You don't say so. Your darter got a thousand dollars?"

"Yes, sah."

"And how old is she?"

"'Bout thirty and wery smart. I's sorry I dun pushed agin your depot, but you see—"

"Don't menshun it, uncle. When dat gal comes back I'd like to speak wid her."

"Yes, sah. I's dun sorry 'bout pushin' your depot along, but you see—"

"Dat's all right, uncle; dat's all right," said the porter, and he shook hands with him and smiled all over.

Say, uncle, I'll be right yere when dat widder cum back, and in de meantime if dat depot am pushed ober and twenty people killed I's gonn' to swear dat you didn't have nuffin' to do wid percolatin' de catastrophe."

A Common Failing.

The Thermometer.

The thermometer is a clever little instrument composed of a scale on which numbers are printed at various intervals and to which is attached a long piece of glass which has a bulb at the bottom. Like other bulbous plants, the thermometer attains its greatest height in the summer time. Inside the bulb is some mercury. When mercury is warmed it expands. When a man gets warm he begins expanding also. If you sit next a fat man in the street car you will notice this. He will spread out until he crushes you against the side of the car. The Fahrenheit thermometer was invented by the late Mr. Fahrenheit, who went upon the theory that zero was not as cold as it seemed, so he left space below it for the mercury to sit down. The centigrade thermometer begins counting at zero; consequently it is a much warmer thermometer than the Fahrenheit variety.

The thermometer tells you how hot it is. In this it has nothing on every one of your friends. Your own thermometer is a source of pride to you if it registers higher than the one next door.—Chicago Post.

Trouble Maker.

Caster Oil.

To the mothers who find it hard to give the little ones castor oil make ginger cookies and add a little more sugar than the recipe calls for, and to a common sized batch add two tablespoonfuls of castor oil and keep the secret to yourself. Frost the top and let the ones who are ailing eat of them and see how well this remedy works.

Seeing Things at Night.

If mothers notice that the brains of their little ones conjure up uncanny sights and thoughts from the shadows of a room more or less dark let the light burn brightly. To force a child to become accustomed to the darkness is a grave error if its nervous system is so organized that this forcing is productive of a fright.

Apply an Old Saying To the Marketing of your Grain--

"NEVER PUT OFF TILL TO-MORROW WHAT YOU CAN DO TO-DAY."

With hundreds of conditions the world over affecting prices on the Central markets you cannot sell all your crop at the top price of the season. As you can get cars, ship your grain on consignment and each will average up a fair price. Ship to the Grain Growers' Grain Co. and you will be sure of your grain selling for the top price, and also you will get the promptest and best service in the handling of your business.

The Grain Growers' Co. was started and is conducted by Farmers and for Farmers. Its chief aim is "Service to Shippers," as shown by its:

1. Unbeatable Selling Organization—That gets top prices.
2. Sampling Department—That checks the Government grading of cars consigned to it.
3. Claims Department—That when you can supply fair evidence, collects claims for you free of charge.
4. Guarantee to carry out your instructions—That it lives up to absolutely.
5. Absolute square dealing in every way—To-day can point to the most successful and progressive Company in Canada.

Compare Capital paid up, $11,975 in 1907, to $596,472 in 1912.
Grain handled, 2,340,000 in 1907, to 27,775,000 in 1912.
Profits (going back to farmers) $790 in 1907, to $121,164 in 1912

This unparalleled progress in every department, beyond question could only be the result of promises fulfilled and satisfaction given.

The 12,000 farmers responsible for this Company now offer its perfected organization for your use and also point out the fact that you can become a part owner of this prosperity any time. How true the old saying is, "Never put off till tomorrow what you can do to-day." Act to-day—Write

At a meeting of the above Association, composed of all the business men of Vulcan, it was decided that on and after November 1st, 1912, the credit system should be limited strictly to 30 days.

Wherever this system has been put into practice it has proved a complete success. The merchant does away with a great deal of unnecessary work and the consumer benefits by the reduced prices of goods, which make it worth while paying cash. The credit system means a great expense and this expense has to be borne by the consumer very largely, so that under the cash system he will effect a great saving.

Friction on the hemorrhoid veins that are swollen, inflamed and gorged with blood, is what causes the terrible pain and itching and smarting of piles. Zam-Buk applied at night will be found to give ease before morning. Thousands of persons have proved this. Why not be guided by the experience of others?

Mr. Thomas Pearson, of Prince Albert, Sask., writes: "I must thank you for the benefit I have received from Zam-Buk. Last summer I suffered greatly from piles. I started to use Zam-Buk and found it gave me relief, so I continued it, and after using three or four boxes I am pleased to say it has effected a complete cure."

Mr. G. A. Dufresne, 183-185 St. Joseph Street, St. Roch, Quebec, P. Q., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to everyone who suffers from piles."

Magistrate Sanford, of Weston, King's Co., N.S., says: "I suffered long from itching piles, but Zam-Buk has now cured me."

Mr. William Kenty, of Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co., N.S., says: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. I tried various ointments, but everything I tried failed to do me the slightest good. I was tired of trying various remedies, when I heard of Zam-Buk and thought as a last resource I would give this balm a trial. After a very short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin injuries and diseases, eczema, flcers, varicose veins, cuts, burns, bruises, chaps, cold sores, etc. 50c. box from all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful imitations.

Contagious

The pretty young matron, having come unexpectedly into the nursery, found her youngest, the blue-eyed golden-haired Irene, in tears, and Smifkins, the nurse, vainly endeavoring to comfort her.

Why, what's the matter with my wee pet? asked the fond mother, taking the agitated child into her embrace. What's mamma's darling crying for?

She's cross, mum, explained the nurse, because I wouldn't let her go to the Brown's birthday party across the way.

Oh, I quite forgot that invitation, said the mistress; but why is Miss Irene not to go?

Because, mum, the Browns 'ave got charades, as Miss Bella says, and I wasn't sure whether Miss Irene 'as had 'em or not. Some things is so very catchin'!

Wedding-Ring Lure

In the lee of Man the wedding ring was formerly used as an instrument of torture. Cyril Davenport, in his book on Jewellery, remarks that there once existed a custom in that island according to which an unmarried girl who had been offended by a man could bring him to trial, and if he were found guilty she would be presented with a sword, a rope, and a ring.

With the sword she might cut off his head, with the rope she might hang him, or with the ring she might marry him. It is said that the latter punishment was invariably inflicted.

The wedding ring was anathema to the early Puritans, who regarded persons' adornment as one of the many snares of Satan. In the old English marriage service it was the custom for the bridegroom to put the ring on the thumb of the bride, saying: "In the name of the Father; then on the next finger, saying: and the Son; and then on the second finger, saying: and of the Holy Ghost; finally on the third finger, with the word Amen."

The ring was left there, because, as the Sarum rubric says, a vein proceeds thence to the heart. In the modern marriage service the ring is placed at once upon the third finger, the invocation to the Trinity being understood.

An Imaginary Loaf

At the ration store of one of our Irish regiments, Mike Rafferty, an old soldier, was engaged in handing the oaves of bread to the elderly men in their turn. Suddenly he turned to the quartermaster, and with a twinkle in his eye said—

Av ye plaze, sor, there's a loaf short, would I give it to?

Keep it yourself, Mike, replied the quartermaster.

Through indiscretion in eating green fruit in summer many children become subject to cholera morbus caused by irritating acids that act violently on the lining of the intestines. Pains and dangerous purgings ensue and the delicate system of the child suffers under the strain. In such cases the safest and surest medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It will check the inflammation and save the child's life.

The Good-Night Message

The evening callers were chatting gaily with the Kinterbys when a patter of little feet was heard from the head of the stairs. Mrs. Kinterby raised her hand, warning the others to silence.

Hush, she said softly. The children are going to deliver their good-night message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them, they are so much nearer the Creator than we are, and they speak the love that is in their little hearts never so fully as when the dark has come. Listen!

There was a moment of tense silence. Then—

Mamma, came the message in a shrill whisper. Willy found a bed-bug!

For some time in Vienna street savings-banks have been in vogue with considerable success. These savings banks are an adaptation of the penny-in-the-slot machine. Anyone passing wishing to deposit a small sum drops his money into the slot. Instead of receiving bon-bons or chocolate in return, he gets a ticket for the coin deposited. The tickets are later honored on presentation at a Government Department. Encouraged by the success of the Vienna experiment the people of Paris are to introduce the same system into their streets.

He Scored With the Report

There is a story told of R. C. Hamilton, the once Glasgow Rangers' famous centre-forward, when his team were playing a holiday match in the North of Scotland. The Rangers' team had a regular day out, as one might say; all the forwards scoring with the exception of Hamilton. Under these circumstances the team unanimously selected Hamilton to write an account of the match, as his version would be the most unbiased. They were a bit taken back to read when the report appeared in print, to the effect that so-and-so scored goals for the Rangers, the entire credit of which was due to the admirable passing of Hamilton!

A Lightship has just been placed in commission in Germany that is provided with a complete equipment of the most modern devices for aiding and warning mariners. In place of the old-fashioned mast-beacons, the vessel carries a single powerful electric light set on top of a hollow mast or shaft, through which the light can be reached in stormy weather. The lightship has wireless telegraph and fog and submarine signals. Diesel oil engines run a dynamo, and two large accumulator batteries store the electric current for emergency use. The new vessel is 150ft. long and 25ft. wide. It will be stationed near the shallows at the mouth of the River Elbe.

A Slight Mistake

There is a railroad out in Colorado, according to the story of a Western traffic manager, which seems unable to form anything like an intimate acquaintance between its trains and the advertised schedules. Its trains are so proverbially late that there is a mild celebration every time one reaches its terminal on time.

A few weeks ago the word was passed about the little town that No. 2 would get in on time, and there was a big crowd at the station. Some generous citizen provided quantities of red fire, and set it off along the track.

What's the celebration? the conductor asked when he jumped off at the station.

Train actually got in on time! explained the crowd.

Put out your fire, the conductor snorted. Don't you know that we're just twenty-four hours late?

Merchant (to clerk)—This won't do. Every time you see a 6 you call it a 2. What is the matter with you, near sighted?

Clerk—No sir. It's a matter of habit. I used to work in a ladies shoe shop.

Hands Cracked, so Could not Work—Cures Effected by

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

It does not take long for Dr. Chase's Ointment to prove its magic healing power. A single night is often sufficient to produce the most startling results.

Internal treatment for skin diseases is nearly always disappointing. By applying Dr. Chase's Ointment to the diseased parts relief is obtained almost immediately, and gradually the sores heal up and disappear. Here are two letters which will interest you:

Mrs. C. J. Gilbert, Haystack, Placentia Bay, Nfld., writes:—"I was a sufferer from Salt Rheum for ten years, and had about despaired of ever being cured, so many treatments had failed. Reading of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment, I commenced using it, and was entirely cured by eight boxes. I want to express my gratitude for Dr. Chase's Ointment, and to recommend it to all sufferers."

Mr. Stanley Merrill, Delaware, Ont., writes:—"For years I was troubled with my hands cracking, often becoming so sore that I could hardly do any work. I got some of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and happily find that one or two applications of same to the affected parts make them well. I have had no trouble since using the ointment for some hands."

A pet cat belonging to Miss Christie Macdonald, the actress, has been given a remarkable funeral. The cat, which was named Prow, went to sleep in the actress's trunk, and somebody shut down the lid with the result that the animal was suffocated. The actress ordered a rosewood and silver coffin, $500, from a firm of undertakers in New York, and in this the cat was buried.

GOOD STUFF

A Confirmed Drinker Takes to Postum

A housewife was recently surprised when cook served Postum instead of tea and coffee. She says:

"For the last five or six years I have been troubled with nervousness, indigestion and heart trouble. I couldn't get any benefit from the doctor's medicine, so finally he ordered me to stop drinking coffee, which I did. (Tea is just as injurious because it contains caffeine—the drug in coffee.)

"I drank hot water while taking the doctor's medicine, with some improvement, then went back to coffee with the same old trouble as before."

"A new servant girl told me about Postum—said her folks used it and liked it in place of coffee. We got a package but I told her I did not believe my husband would like it, as he was a great coffee drinker."

"To my surprise he called for a third cup, said it was 'good stuff' and wanted to know what it was. We have used Postum ever since and both feel better than we have in years."

"My husband used to have bad spells with his stomach and would be sick three or four days, during which time he could not eat or drink anything. But since he gave up coffee and took to Postum, he has had no more trouble, and we now fully believe it was all caused by coffee."

"I have not had any return of my former troubles since drinking Postum, and feel better and can do more work than in the last ten years. We tell everyone about it—some say they tried it and did not like it. I tell them it makes all the difference as to how it's made. It should be made according to directions—then it is delicious."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Glass Flowers

In the University Museum of Harvard is a collection of plants modelled in glass. It is a wonderful collection both in size and in the beauty and accuracy of the work. It includes flowering plants, from the simplest to the most elaborate and complex, being done in the natural color of the particular flower modelled, with buds, leaves and stems.

This is known as the Ware collection. The plants were modelled by Leopold Blaschka, founder of the art of modelling specimens in glass. He was born May 27th, 1822, in Aicha, a town in Northern Bohemia. His father was a mechanician in electrical apparatus and an artificer in glass. Leopold began work as a goldsmith, devoting himself to cutting and setting precious stones, but later changed to metal and glass work.

In 1843 he made a voyage to the United States in a sailing vessel, making drawings of marine invertebrates which he collected and from which he constructed in 1853 the first glass models for the Natural History Museum of Dresden. These attracted wide notice, and were the beginnings of a business that was limited only because he employed no assistant but his son.

Rudolph, the son, born in 1857, was educated to be a naturalist, and readily entered into his work with his father. They studied and made models of marine form in glass, which have been sought by collectors and are treasured in museums.

In 1854 Leopold made models of plants in flower. In 1862 he had completed a collection of about sixty specimens of orchids modelled in glass.

In 1886 the Blaschkas were induced to resume the construction of plants in flower. They also constructed models for zoology. Since 1890 all their time has been given to flowers. They used only fresh material so had to obtain it close at hand from the neighboring greenhouses and gardens, drawing from the Royal gardens of Saxony and Dresden. America was drawn upon, plants being sent to be cultivated in the garden of the Blaschkas studio.

In 1892 Rudolph Blaschka went to America to study the flora. He made a most thorough study of plants as to color, also made microscopic drawings of details and of species, and took back specimens preserved in alcohol and dried for study. He made collections from all parts of the country, even to the Pacific Coast. During a second journey in 1895 he was called home by the death of his father. The son is still living but so far has not disclosed the secret of making glass models from plants, and if he does not before his death the art will pass away.

SIX YEARS USE OF BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets she will always use them as long as there are little ones in the house. They are absolutely safe and never fail to cure constipation, colic, indigestion or the many other babyhood and childhood ailments. Concerning them Mrs. E. Simmons, Hamilton, Ont., says: "I have not been without Baby's Own Tablets for six years. I have given them to my three little ones and find them excellent during teething and at other times." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

Women Pearl Divers

The pearl-divers of Japan are women. Along the coast of the Bay of Ago and the Bay of Kokasho the thirteen and fourteen year old girls, after they have finished their primary school work, go to sea and learn to dive. They are in the water and learn to swim almost from babyhood. They spend most of their time in the water, except in the coldest season—from the end of December to the beginning of February. Even during the most inclement of seasons they sometimes dive for pearls. They wear a special dress, with the hair twisted up into a hard knot. The eyes are protected by glasses to prevent the entrance of water.

A boat in command of men is assigned to every five or ten women divers to carry them to and from the fishing grounds. When the divers arrive on the grounds they leap into the water at once, and begin to gather oysters at the bottom. The oysters are dropped into tubs suspended from their waists.

When these are filled the divers are raised to the surface and jump into the boats. They dive to a depth of from five to thirty fathoms without any special apparatus, and retain their breath from one to three minutes. Their ages vary from thirteen to forty years, and between twenty-five and thirty five they are at their prime.

Experience Unnecessary

The fashionable practitioner threw a glance at the dust road and rubbed his hands gleefully. His trunk was packed, his professional attitude was laid aside, and his carriage was due. But the assistant who was to act as administering angel during his absence did not share his master's good spirits.

I hope everything will be all right while you're away, sir, he said nervously.

Sure to—sure to, replied the great M.D.

I've—I've had such little experience stammered the young man desperately.

Nonsense! You don't need experience with fashionable patients, exclaimed he who knew their ways, grabbing his hat. They're as simple as A, B, C. Find out what they've been eating and stop it. And ask them where they're going for their holidays, and send them somewhere else.

The General was inspecting a regiment of Territorials, the Colonel of which was a notoriously bad horseman. As the band struck up the march-past the Colonel's horse plunged violently, and the officer was nearly unseated. Every man in the leading company was very interested in his efforts to retain his seat, with the result that the front rank became bunched up and tumbled out of line.

Ease off there, shouted the Captain angrily.

He ain't, replied a laughing recruit, but I'll bet he won't keep on for another two minutes.

Sign Was Effective

The residents of one of the small California towns near Los Angeles were annoyed at the constant speeding of motor drivers over the good roads of that section, and so, after losing several chickens and dogs under the wheels of passing cars, they made a protest by erecting a sarcastically worded signboard, reading—

Slow down to 65 miles. Many a driver who would disregard the ordinary caution to run at the legal rate of twenty miles an hour is forced to grin at the humour of this appeal and proceed at a more reasonable speed.

Ready for the Holidays

An hotel keeper who happened to have a fair-sized nasal organ was one day mending a wheelbarrow, when a piece of wood jumped up and hit him on the bridge of the nose, cutting it right across. His wife dressed it very carefully, and put on a large patch of sticking-plaster. An hour or two after a woman who was passing through the village called at the house and ordered a pint of beer. On paying for the beer she looked at the hotel keeper and said—

Are you going for your holidays, guv'nor?

No. What makes you ask?

Oh, nothing, said the woman. I thought perhaps you were when I see you've got your trunk labelled.
